421204-149

12/4/42

Snowed last nite for first time in season.

12/5/42

Vancouver Lake, Pond area to south, hence along east shore to mouth of Leverich Creek, hence up creek to Vancouver. Snow last nite and this morning; about 2 inches. Day cold, freezing at dusk. Most of the ponds with icy slush surfacing. Day clearing in afternoon. Recorded following:

Corvus brachyrhynchos. Had moved from previous areas of congregation.

Anas platyrhynchos
Mareca americana
Phalacrocorax auritus albociliatus. 2
Penthestes atricapillus oregonus
Penthestes rufescens.
Corthylio calendula grinnelli
Regulus satrapa olivaceus
Dendroica auduboni auduboni
Sturnella neglecta. 50
Limnodromus griseus scolopaceus — 1 bird, left leg injured feeding in waste stream from a dairy. Loathe to leave area.
Otocichus vociferus vociferus.
Melospiza lincolni
Melospiza melodia morphna
Passerella iliaca townsendi
Cyanocitta stelleri stelleri
Anthus spinoletta subscens
Otocoris alpestris
Branta canadensis
Ardea herodias fannini 3
Thryomanes bewicki calophonus
Phasianus colchicus torquatus
Spinus tristis salicamans
Turdus migratorius caurinus (??)
Horeus hovivius noevanus. 10
Nuthion caroliniensis.
Capella delicata
Psaltriparus minimus minimus
Junco oregonus shufeldti
Junco oregonus oregonus.
Larus argentatus (?) other gulls.
Many other species of ducks probably 2,000 but all collected in lake proper.

One hawk either sparrow or sharp shinned hawk