MISSOURI VALLEY-BIG SIX CONFERENCE

The Big Six conference (officially, the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) is the outgrowth of the Missouri Valley Conference of Faculty Representatives formed in 1907. The division came in September, 1927.

Dr. James Naismith, Prof. A. T. Walker, and W. C. Lansdon represented the University at a preliminary meeting in Kansas City, Jan. 12, 1907. Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, and Washington University of St. Louis, also were present. Organization was completed Feb. 16, of that year. Iowa soon withdrew, finding interests lying chiefly with the Big Ten. From time to time other institutions were added (See chart) and finally the division when the organization became too unwieldy.

Chancellor Deane W. Malott
223 Frank Strong
University of Kansas

Dear Chancellor Malott:

It seems to me as if I have been receiving much, too much, undeserved sympathy from some well intentioned people in our metropolis. Rumors have been going around the past year or so that I am a sick man and it will not be long before I will be in a lying position looking up at the daisy shoots. Grapevine rumor has it that the center of Phog Allen's circulatory system; otherwise known as the cardiac pump, is selling him short.

If I felt any better I might get arrested. Only last week one of the leading citizens of this town, who does have some cardiac trouble, came to my home. He reported that some friends visited him last winter and stated that Dyke O'Neal, Dr. Snyder and Phog Allen all had some very bad hearts and might drop off any day. They mentioned the fact that Swede Carlson went this way and that if the said F.C. did not behave and go slower he would go away with the rest of them.

I do not like to have such gross misstatements out before the public and it is for that reason I am writing you this letter. Some five years ago I applied for a $30,000 annuity in a small mutual company which had suffered a great many very large losses. It was the policy of said company to cut down on their annuities and I was turned down, the excuse being that I had an enlarged heart.

Three years ago Warren Woody, Manager of the Equitable in New York, with offices on 20 LaSalle Street, Chicago, wrote a twenty-year endowment policy for me for $25,000. I went through a very rigid inspection in Chicago by the Equitable's head medical examiner, and every test was given me that the Equitable can put a fellow through. After spending one day in doing all the didoes that a fellow is subjected to, I passed with flying colors. Electro-cardiograms, fluoroscopes, chest pictures and many different tests were gone through with, but with very satisfactory results.

Just a few months prior to this chest examination, Dr. Lawrence Nelson of the Salina Clinic ran an electro-cardiogram on my heart at Salina and he pronounced me quite a healthy specimen. So I guess I have been getting too much sympathy from people who do not know the whole truth.

Perhaps you have not heard a word about it, but I wanted you to know that I am in good shape to play on your team.

Very cordially yours,

Supporting my contention that Kansas State emphasizes their baseball prestige by playing up Ban Johnson players, I would kindly call your attention to the write up in Friday morning's Kansas City Times in which they announce that their veteran team is leaving for Columbia to play the Missouri Tigers Friday and Saturday.

They mention that "Lee Doyen, a junior letter man", and Clarence Huck Heath, "a veteran of the Kansas Ban Johnson league", are scheduled to hurl for Kansas State.

They emphasize their baseball strongly out there, and the point that I made is that they appeal to two-sport lettermen, especially if baseball is one of them, to come to Kansas State where baseball gets a major play.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Falkenstien:

Thank you for your communication of the 13th giving me an excerpt from the Minutes of the Directors' meeting, December 6, 1940 regarding the N.C.A.A. playoff. I had read in the papers regarding this action, but I am glad to have the real McCoy. We will be guided definitely by the action of the Directors.

May I make this observation, that by such a ruling a coach will be forced to put in and to keep in his regulars so that he may run up a large score, and also to keep the opponents from scoring. The substitutes, necessarily, will not get a chance to play on account of the rule that the Directors made.

Previously, when the coaches of a particular sport desired certain action to be heard, they presented the matter to the Directors, and in order that it might be legal the Directors referred it to the faculty representatives for action. But when rulings such as this were made, the coaches were consulted, then the Directors and faculty representatives made the ruling upon their best judgment. It seems now as if it is not necessary to discuss with the coaches regarding a certain situation.

May I state further that I have a recollection that the Directors made a ruling that they wanted to help Uncle Sam get his fighting men in the best possible shape and they offered their services and their best judgment in attaining this desirable condition. But such rulings as they have just passed tend to cut down the possible number of competitors and thereby fail to encourage greater participation.

No coach will use a substitute now when he can make a better record and thereby win the championship. Heretofore when a game was won or lost the coach would put in the substitutes, because they are the ones that had helped the team; now he is discouraged in doing this by the action of the Directors. It is certainly not an educational attitude and is paradoxical to the motion that they passed regarding Uncle Sam's physical fitness program.

There is another rumor that is floating around among the coaches which is almost as bad. George Edwards informed the coaches last Sunday at their meeting, that a ruling had been passed by the Directors and the faculty representatives to the effect that the ten players could be taken on a trip and also only ten players could be dressed in uniform for the home game. If such a ruling has been made, then this is the plumb. There is no need for them to try any further to get the freakiest of all freakish ideas across.

They are saying to the basketball group something they are saying to no other athletic group in the University. In an institution where you are supposed to encourage physical education they are discouraging definitely the boys who go out and work for a team. If a boy cannot even have the thrill of putting on a uniform, let along getting into a game, especially at home, then why is not such a rule made in all sports: track, baseball and football.

George Edwards told me that Sam Shirkey, the Missouri representative, had informed him of this rule, and I will thank you if you will inform me if there is such a rule on the books. I had not heard of it and of course I would like to be advised.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation

Dear Dr. Davis:

Dr. Allen asked me to call you over the phone and read you the following letter from Lowe & Campbell regarding the scoreboard. Having been unable to reach you by phone, I am quoting the letter as follows:

"No matter what you decide about the scoreboard which Mr. Royer wrote about on October 28th, we know you will want to get the item you are going to buy so that you will have it installed and ready for use at the start of your season.

"Will you please keep us posted as to your plans regarding the scoreboard? We want to supply the item you will use and of course we are anxious to get the order at such a time that we will be sure of getting it to you early."

Since it will take some time to install the board, Dr. Allen is anxious that the matter be taken up as soon as possible because the time is short; that is, if we get the scoreboard.

Dear Dr. Davis:

Yesterday morning Earl Falkenstien conversed with me concerning certain rules of the Big Six as they bear upon post-season games and A and B games.

The newspaper men called me saying that they had talked to you and there is a question whether the B game that we tentatively scheduled with the University of Wichita was to be counted as an additional game on the varsity. They seemed to think that the Board was not clear on this point. The matter of scheduling a game with Oklahoma A. and M. after the regular games of the Big-Six Conference were played was also questioned, as well as the matter of B teams playing men who were freshmen in other schools.

The conference rule is quite clear that there may be two teams, the A team and the B team. The A team is permitted to play a full schedule of games allowed by the conference. There is also permission granted for playing B games, but at no institution of our Big Six Conference have there been as many B games played as A games.

You will recall a few years ago when Missouri, under Coach Don Farout, played some early B games against Kirksville Central College. He used several of his varsity regulars in the B game. The Missouri authorities were under the impression that these regulars could play on the B team and then play the full number of games on the A, or regular varsity schedule. The conference authorities ruled that no player could participate in games to exceed the regularly allowed varsity schedule. In other words, it was permissible for a varsity player to play in two or three B games, but each game counted as varsity competition. The player could still be furnished to the varsity team, but the three B games counted as full games of competition.

You will remember that we have played a number of B basketball games heretofore. For a couple of years we played two B games with the Aggies and B games against Southwestern College in Winfield, Kansas. This is not a precedent for us, it is a practice that has been followed for several years heretofore. When we played Southwestern College, of course, even our Varsity played against freshmen, as did the Kansas State football team this year, when they played against Kansas Teachers of Emporia. About one-half of the members of the Emporia team are freshmen. They play under their conference rules and we play under ours. This would be exactly the case with Wichita University.

Regarding the post-season game, there is no definite time set as to when the basketball season shall end, but I presume that because the Oklahoma A. and M. game was scheduled after the close of our conference season, March 7, that certain members of the Board might have thought that the Oklahoma A. and M. game was a post-season game. It is not post-season any more than is the football game with Colorado State. This game is played after the Big Six football season closes with Missouri on November 21, but it is not post-season.

Furthermore, many people are of the opinion that the basketball practice season is long. When you consider that the first games are played on December 9 and 10 against Texas, then the Christmas recess begins on December 21, just 11 days after the Texas games, and school does not take up until January 6, then the first game with Oklahoma is played January 8, and on January 23 examinations begin and no games may be played during that period, then school does not start again until February 5, another two weeks of idleness, you can see that the basketball playing season is badly broken up.

From February 4 to March 11 is a little better than a month. The actual season then is not actually of two months duration. When you consider that eighteen games are scattered over a total elapsed time of over three months, it is not a difficult matter to see that the season is not very strenuous.

I want to assure you, Professor Davis, that I will never embarrass the Athletic Board by making tentative agreements with our opponents and then asking our Board to ratify the same. Every tentative agreement has been strictly in accordance with the rules of the Big Six.

Last year when the Washburn tournament misunderstanding came up, I had previously written letters asking that the Board take some action, and had they done so I would not have had the Big Six misunderstanding that we did have. I had not known that at a faculty meeting, which you did not attend but which Professor Jones attended, a motion was made to cut the allowable basketball games in the Big Six from 20 to 18. This word was not communicated by the faculty representative to the athletic directors, nor were the coaches informed by any authorized source, so it was perfectly natural and thinkable that we should plan on 20 games.

Trusting that these explations clear up any misunderstanding that the Board members might have had regarding rules of the Big Six Conference, I am,

Very cordially yours,

Dear Dr. Davis:

I am sending you the correspondence regarding the electric scoreboard for basketball from the Fred Medart Manufacturing Company in St. Louis.

Our auditorium court is so situated that it is necessary to have a V-shaped double scoreboard in order to give the information to the people on the stage and the people on the north side of the court, including the lower floor, first balcony and second balcony.

When I was in St. Louis a year ago last August, working on the invention of the game Goal-Hi and its perfection, they were making this electric board and they showed it to me. That is how all this correspondence came about.

You will doubtless recall that three years ago we asked the Athletic Board to furnish us with an electric scoreboard as all the schools in the Big-Six, and even the high schools like Lawrence and Ottawa had electric scoreboards. It was thought at that time that the University Athletic Association could not afford it. However, I might add that last year the basketball team made $2000 net above all expenses over and above the regular scheduled games. In the Big-Six play-off and the Fifth District play-ff in Wichita and Oklahoma City, $1000 net was realized on each game. You see, this is above the normal expectations of income.

You received a copy of my letter written to Chancellot Malott regarding the disposition of funds from the National play-ff. I attended the meeting in Chicago and I am very sure that we will get something better than $500.00 on this. This is still in addition to the money above the budget. Therefore, I feel that since about $2500 was realized after the season closed that it would not be unthinkable to purchase a scoreboard, inasmuch as $900.00 was spend a few years ago to keep the boys warm down at the stadium for their winter work-outs.

It seems to me that if a team makes as much money as the basketball team over and above the normal playing season time, that it would not be unreasonable to give them some of the natural adjuncts that college and high school teams all over the country possess.

I would appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation
