Mr. John Carlson,
Union Station Building,
Kansas City, Missouri.

Dear Swede:

Jack Buckman just got out of the hospital last night and came in this morning for funds to complete his enrollment.

He had $30.00 in cash, $5.00 of this having been spent for textbooks. His late enrollment cost him $2.50 and the $15.00 that you were going to get from the boys in Kansas City made a total of $17.50.

However, the total amount of his tuition and incidental fees was $50.85. It was necessary for me to lend him from my personal account $20.85. Of course, I do not expect to get $20.85 from your group, but if you would be kind enough to collect that $17.50 it will bring his indebtedness down to me to $3.35. I will appreciate your kind cooperation.

Jack is a swell boy and I believe with the proper influences is going to do well. He is purposeful and sincere. I appreciate all the nice things that you have done.

Sincerely yours,

FCA:AH
