auto, it knocked his hat off. He didn't get very peeved about it but I guess our Sergeant expected some hard words!

When we got in from the field, the Company went over to the corral and groomed our horses. Yesterday one sergeant hopped on a "green" horse and was next "among those present" in the hospital. Most of the horses are in pretty good shape now. We had good luck in getting our pack mules, too. I wish you could see this place. There are herds of sheep and cattle, and a lot of garden truck is raised for the table. I guess the military prisoners do most of the work. Believe me, you won't see yours
