ÆLURŒDUS MELANOCEPHALUS, Ramsay.

W. Hart del et lith. Mintern Bros. imp.

ÆLURŒ

Ælurœdus melanocep
Finsch u.
Zool. Fra
Orn. Pap
Mus. Civ.

This is the represen
Stanley Mountains.
Carl Hunstein proc Sogeri District, and
Æ. melanocephalus
and is very closely a
the face, and in the c
the ovate spots of bu
are of a deeper ochre
on the wing-coverts
described the wing-c between Dr. Meyer's
however, recently fo
the British Museum
description and figu
has pointed out, is du described in the text Adult male. Gene
the upper mantle va
the back, the media
primary-coverts and the secondaries tip
the outer web, blac
ones; crown of he being almost entire surmounted by a lin
of buff-spotted feath
fore part of cheeks
edges to the feathers
edges on the feathers distinct white shaft-
greenish; under tail
tipped with whitish green; iris hazel" (
The figure in the
Dr. H. O. Forbes.