be very good friends?
Surely your Mother knows what is best. I hate to think of giving you up even for just a few years, but love you too much to think of anything but that which will make you the happiest in the long run. What is it, Marie, that you don't like to write to me? I am telling you every thing;
can't you do the same
and trust that I will understand? I was not surprised at the change
