Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of the inclosed letter and communication, and we question seriously whether Alice Warner is what she appears to be. We wonder if this is not the scheme of some organization to secure free advertising by which the public would be tempted to send small amounts for more or less worthless articles. We may be wrong but everything about it suggests to us that it is a put up job.

We shall be glad to hear from you.

Respectfully yours,

THE WORLD COMPANY

President.
