

(6) on them. I'm glad there are no mules in the wagon section. Yesterday morning I had my first very close call. When we groom the horse, we take them from the corral and tie them a yard apart to a chain stretched taut ~~to~~ between posts about four feet high. I was brushing the hind legs of 1 of the new mules. The suddenly plunged around sideways at me, kicking with both feet. I stepped a head just in time to miss the hoofs but was pinned in between the picket chain & the mule. The chain caught
