

(2)

that olive drab color and just matches the dead grass. (A motorcycle sidecar in the field seems to blend into the background so you can hardly distinguish it.)

Well - these raincoats have a very queer cut as they are intended for mounted service men. They are so long that they just miss touching the ground, and when buttoned single breasted they are a regular tent. The back is split clear to the waist.

Yesterday I had my first taste of riding.