"WITH THE COLORS"

(2.)

When I look at those two portraits of you (I have them back again) I can hardly believe that I ever held you close in my arms.

It seems as if the days when we were together were years ago, and you seem like a big, precious thing, altogether lost to me.

Well I don't suppose I ought to write to you this way, but I love you so much I can't always hold back the feeling it causes.

Lieutenant Kilbury is now a Captain and is our Company Commander.
