MR. McGregor caught sight of him at the corner, but Peter didn't care. He slipped underneath the gate, and was safe at last in the wood outside the garden.