and others. The body wth the chariot weighed 900 weight, wch being carried and attended orderlie by the said Esqre was committed to the ground in the vault appointed, and immediatlie the vault was covered, leaving a small gold lett open for the staves to be broaken into. There was not at that time any office of the Heurtes service done, the Earle being ridde to have operated it. But it was by all that were present aswell Scottish as others agreed and thought good, that it should be done on the day and time of the solempnitie. Upon Munday in the afternoone came to Peterborough all the Lords and Ladies and other assistants appointed, and at the Earles Pallace was prepared a greate supper for them, where all at one table supped in the greate Chamber being hanged wth black, where was a state set on the right side there of purple velvet. Upon Tuesday morninge the Earls mourners Lords Ladies and other assistants being rouded about tom of the Corse they marched from the Hall of the Earls Pallace as followeth.
