of Aremberge which is false, for you being examined whether you should have and this money of Cobham or not, you said yea, and that within 2. or 3. days Nemo moriturus presumitur mentiri.

Lo: Hen: Howard. Attradge was ever ground or cause why you your Lord to Cobham for procur= =ing pardons for matter you had not to deale with.

Raw: Could I stopp my lord Cobhams mouth?

Lo: Cecill. Sr. Walter Rawleigh proffeth that my lord Cobham hee brought face to face, if hee offer things of favour and grace they must onely come from him that must give them, if wee sitt as Commissioners, how shall wee bee satisfied whether hee ought to bee brought unto wee heare the Judges speake.

Lo: Chiefe Justice. This thing cannot bee granted, for then a number of traitors should flourish, the Author may bee drawne by practise while hee is in prison.

Justice Gawdy: The Statute you speake of concerning two witnesses in cases of Treason, is found to bee inconvenient therefore by another lawe it was repealed.

Raw: The Bandon twixt all England is by fury and witnesse.

Justice Warb: I marvell Sr. Walter Rawleigh that you being you being of sure Experience and witt that you should stand on this point, for so many horse stealers may escape, if they may not bee condemned without witnesses.

If a man should rush into the Kings Chamber whilst hee is alone, and kill the King (which God forbidd) and this man shalbe mett coming forth with his sword drawne all bloudie, shall not hee bee condemned to death without hee witnesses, my lord Cobham hath beene sharpe labored to shall, and so saw you his Ill friend, it may bee hee will deny all that hee hath said.

Raw: I know not how you construe the lawe.

Lo: chiefe Justice. May wee doe not construe the lawe wee know the lawe.

Raw: The wisdome of the law of God was absolute and short, hoc fac et vivet. I pray you show mee this in your lawe, but how the wisdome of the State and the wisdome of your lawe is, it is con= trame, yet where the Author is not con= veniently to bee had I am wee with you but here my Author may bee had, Susanna had beene condemned, if Daniell had not rayed out to the Judge, hold you —
