Lo: Chiefe Justice. Since hee must needs have justice, the arguing of his olde friend, may move him to speake otherwise than the truth.

Raw: If I have beene the instigator of those treasons into him you speake of the jury I pray you marke this, hee saith I have beene the cause of all his miseries, and pr dotrimoto of his house, and that all this Evill hath happened unto him by my wicked Counsell, if this bee true, whome hath hee cause to accuse, and to bee revenged on more than mee, and I know him to bee as resonable as anie man upon the Earth.

Attor: Hee is a partie and may not cause, the lawe is against it.

Raw: Tis a top, to tell of lawe, I desire thy lawe I stand on the fact.

Lo: Cecill. I am affraid my offen speaking whor am inferior to the Lords here present will make the world thinke I desire to heare my selfe talke, my offence to you Sr Walter Rawleigh was not extinguished but slackned in regard of your desarte, you know the lawe of the realme to the which your mynde doth not contest is that my Lord Cobham cannot bee brought.

Raw: Hee may my lord.

Lo: Cecill. But dare you challenge it?

Noe.

Raw: Noe.

Attor: You say my Lo: Cobham your maine Arrayer may bee brought face to face to accuse you, you say hee hath retracted, I say manie particulars are not retracted what the delibitie of this is merely left to the ~~Learnete~~ Jury, lett mee aske you this, If my lord Cobham will say you were the onelye instigator of him to proceed in those treasons, dare you putt your selfe on this?

Raw: If hee will speake it before God and the King, that I ever knew of Arbellas matter or the money out of Spaine, or the Surprising treason, I putt my selfe on it, Gods will bee done and the King withstood.

Lo: Hen: Howard. How if hee will speake things equivalent to that you say?

Raw: Yes and in a manie points.

Lo: Cecill. If hee say you have beene the instigator of him to deale with the Spanish King, had not the Counsell cause to draw you hither.

Raw: I put my selfe on it.

Lo: Cecill. Then call to God and spare your selfe Sr Walter, for I doe verily believe my Lord Cobham will prove this, Except your faulte I am your friend, the heat & passion in you and the Attorneys zeale in the
