hope of his owne life / It is dangerous that Traytor should have access or conference one with another, for when they see themselves must dye, they will think it best to have their fellow live that he may, wreake the like treason against, and so in some sorte seeke reve= =nge / Now therefore there rest nor more but to pronounce judgment which I wish you had not been here this day to have received of me for if the feare of God in you had been sufficiable to other your great parts, you might have lived to have been a singular good subt / I now serve the like tryall, and I hope I shall not see the like against, but sure you have been found guiltie of this terrible treason, the judgment of this Court is, that you be led from hence to the place from whence you came there to abide till the day of Execution / And from thence you shalbe drawne upon a hurdle through the open streets to the place of Execution there to be hanged and cutt downe alive, your secrey Members to be cutt of yo: body burned, your heart and bowells shalbe pulled out and cast into the fire before your eyes, your head shalbe shalbe stricken of from yo: body, and yo: bodie devided into 4. quarters to be disposed at the Kings pleasure, And God have mercie on your soule /.
