

ocean beach, etc. On the 17th we visited the Golden Gate international exposition on treasure island. While driving to the fair from our cabin camp at about 15 miles south of San Francisco we passed along the skyline drive. While passing right down the San Andreas fault, failed to be convinced from the general superficial feature as to the presence of faults. At the Seal Rocks we paused to take a few pictures of the navy fleet of 53 ships as they left San Francisco after their 16 day rest here. The morning was misty and foggy so did not get best results. The ships are in the horizon in a single line as they vanished into the on-coming fog. We were indeed fortunate to see the entire fleet of battle-ships, cruisers, etc leaving in such a setting.
