were fitt some exemplarie Justice were made of this, and for that reason hee thought fitt, that the place of Mr. Emmsons Imprisonment were in the Tower and hee to make some open confession of his fault in the Court Worth, some have said that the Eye of Justice is blynde, but I think shee hath a cleare Eye and like the Eye of Nature sheth Light when there is noe Colour layd before her, hee that is a Jest to death dyeth for contempt of the law but not for his offence, Contempt of the lawe is the worst offence, and therefore it is punished with the most cruell death, as for Sr. John Hollis his offence, it was worthie of punishment hee nevertheless acknowledged him a worthie Knight that notwithstanding his punishment might well hereafter bee imployed any ways in the State, which hee did Speake for his comfort, but agreed for his Censure, and Sr. John Wentworth, as had beene already fett, onely to pay their fyees, and to goe back to their Jayle Prisons from whence they came.

Lo: Chiefe Baron Tanfield said that it were not lawfull for men to make questions in affront of Justice, neither were it Small or Tollerable to men going to execution as those were made by Sr. John Wentworth, but questions questions for distraine of offences are lawfull, as to aske a horse Stealer that is to bee hanged, whether hee stole such another horse, or such like, which tendeth to distraine an Offence, but for that not is judged to bee executed not to contradict it, and question whether hee hath committed the offence or noe is not lawfull, but to question for some distraine, is lawfull enough; wherefore hee agreed in the same censure for Sr. John Wentworth and Sr. John Hollis, as for Mr. Emmsons offence it is an Offence in writing, & therefore it is committed advisedly and on deliberation, and therefore agreed for his fyne and Imprisonment in the Tower during the Kings pleasure.

The Lo: Chiefe Justice Hubbert said, that the Prisoners did differ in rank, but did well agree in their ends, not in respect of any conspiracie or Bombey matter that hee would lay to their charge, but surely they had all one marke or end to provide armes shoulder the Justice to some of a thing not proved to Stand all the Justice already passed on Weston, who were then there to bee executed, words in the breast are thought, and wee may bee our ownne Judges of them but of words Spoken, wee may make others our Judges of them, & wee are to make Answer of such Interpretation as may bee made of them
