and one ball of raw silk and 6. balls of Chamblotts, and 40. barrels of gallos, but the said goods and Chattells so redelivered before the redelivery were much impaired decayed & made worse, by the keeping of them and by occasion of the detayner of the said goods the said Compl.t hath bene much hindred in his marchantdizing and lost great sounds of money w.ch by his marchantdizing he might have acquired and gotten, in case the said goods and Chattells had not bene taken by the ofdes defendts in the Bill named, and he is thereby otherwise greatly damified both in his creditt and trade of marchantdize, and the said Compl.t saith that the Statute made in the fifteenth yeare of K. King Jamds Concerning Tonnage and Poundage was to continue in force only during the life of the said late King and the sounds of money therein mentioned no longer and the said and the duties thereby graunted determined by the decease of the said late King and the sounds of money therein mentioned to be paid ought not by the lawe to have bene levyed after his late Ma.tie decease, and that all the said goods and Chattells were brought into the Realme from the parts beyond the Seas and put on land long after the decease of the said late Ma.tie King Jamds. And that for any the dangers in the said

said Answere mentioned the sounds of money in the said answeare specified ought not to be paide nor were due to his ma.tie nor ought the said goods to be seized or detayned for not payment thereof. And the said Compl.t was of the said goods the true owner, as in his Bill is set forth, whilst the other defendts in the Bill named did unlawfully take them and detayne them from him, and would not suffer the said Compl.t to open them and prove and dry and air them to keepe them from perishing, as the said Compl.t by his Bill hath set forth and alledged. And without that that any thing in the said answere materiall to be replyed unto is true w.ch he is ready to verify and prayeth as by his Bill he hath prayed.
