

of year. Arrived at windy pass at 5:23. Their ⁴⁰⁰⁶²⁹⁻¹¹⁹ ^{appears} to be a rather unusual rock structure at first pass east of Provo Peaks which does not seem to carry thru. It is overturned and probably has a N.W. S.E. axis. at windy pass on east north side at head of erosion gully to the right found a clay streak exposed by gully. It was a reddish clay with green inclusions superimposed by a yellow streak being rather granular. The red clay was very fine and wondered if the Indians could have used it in their paintings and decorations. Applied some on note books and found it very cohesive and permanent. On knoll between windy pass ^{next} pass to east found extensive badger diggings. Cirque no 3 with only on main terminal area. at badger knoll took picture (6-6-29-40) to the north with medial ridge between cirques 3-4 in the foreground. Long evening lights filtering thru range to west. On ridge at head of cirque 3 found the coyote tracks trending west. Fresh droppings of the coyote superimposed on the older ones. They use same area for dropping in many instances.

The Amelanchier oreophila on this rock ridge overturned toward the north. a few Prunus melanocarpa mixed in among them. The wild-life trail along here is well established and should not be interfered with any subsequent road building. The coyote, porcupine, deer and badger consistently use it. 6:55 Falcon lit in dead tree perch on ridge ahead. 7:00 P.M. Turning off toward camp ridge. Good time of day for picture of Provo Peaks. Grouse (Dusky) drumming to the west. Grouse (3) adults left at one point. Stained dyke 60' above flat portion of ridge 7:23 P.M. flock of 14 crossbills(?) flew by to the east and south. 7:23 P.M.  Mosquitos not as bad last night as expected. Temperature at 8:30 P.M. = 50°F, ^{rained last nite.} left Camp no 2 at 8:43 P.M. to return to Provo via Rock Canyon. 9:07 Coyotes called. Jumped 3 sets of grouse this morning. Nuthatches found low in trees. Tree swallows flying low. Arrived at top of ridge at 9:25 A.M. Remained on ridge to get pictures of storm clearing. at 10:15 the rain stopped and just before it stopped the white clouds began to form. These clouds form suddenly and leave abruptly so one has to judge the right cloud condition before it changes. One has only a few minutes of ideal picture taking during this cloud transformation. These clouds form low then work up and completely enshroud the mountain and then
