

1-8-12-40

(1-8-12-40) A fair example of our catch ranging from seven inches on up.

2-8-12-40

(2-8-12-40) Leaving our station at Granddaddy Lake after five most enjoyable days.

[inserted date.]

3-8-8-40

(3-8-8-40) Island Camp. Best fishing in straits between camp and opposite side of lake, probably due to the factor of depth and water movement, if any. At a point just to the right of the white log at point where small stream enters lake one would find hundreds of small fish jumping out of water. They congregated in such number that the water just churned but surprisingly, one could draw a fly thru the area & receive no results. These fish, I sure, could only be playing and not feeding. Such a total disregard for a fly was most interesting. Took a few measurements as follows: At Granddaddy Lake water $6\frac{3}{4}$ " below the uppermost white water mark on rocks. Below down about same as Granddaddy. Solitary Lake $21\frac{3}{4}$ inches below upper white lined mark on rocks. The small lake above this deep lake had completely dried since my last trip here a few weeks ago. Spring water on south side of Lake at 5:30 P.M. = 43° F. Lake temp (Granddaddy) at 5:30 P.M. 100 feet north of Spring = 62° F. At 8:30 P.M. lake = 62° F.