Dear Jim,

Taken two boxes since I last wrote and let get them off my chest before I say anything else. Please bear in mind that my trinomials are pure theory and I really don't know or feel completely certain of the nearby birds.

From Pullman to Moscow, Idaho

Kinglet or chickadee

Colaptes cafer collaris

Carpodacus mex. frontalis

COLAPTES AUREUS LUTEUS -

First one ever seen. Was associating with some other Red-shafted Flickers.

Melospiza melodia merilli

Passerculus s. nevadensis

Sturnella neglecta

Turdus migratorius propinqua

Oxyechus vociferous vociferous

Spinus pinus pinus

Spinus tristis salicorum

P. p. perdy

Euphagus cyanocephalus

Junco reganus shufeldti

Zonotrichia querquedula gambeli

Corthylis calendula calendula

Sitta currucoidea

Dendroica auduboni auduboni

Looked out of place in the wheat stubble.

Anthus spuroletta pubescens.

From Moscow to the range of young mountains North-East.

Zonotrichia s. gambeli

Oxyechus v. vociferous

Anthus s. pubescens

Falco mexicanus

Falco s. sparverius

Otocoris alpestris merilli

Penthestes a. septentrionalis

Sitta canadensis

Eutamias (for you)

Colaptes cafer collaris

Myiophobus v. brooksi (subsp.?)

About 40 or so at base of hills.

Sialia currucoidea

Sturnella neglecta

Cyanocitta stelleri stelleri

Pica pica hudsonia

Turdus mig. propinqua

Melospiza m. merilli

Junco reganus shufeldti

Now I proceeded up the mountain after King offered (I took) a ride with a woodcutter. He dropped me off at the pass. The highest peak being rather inaccessible due to excessive second growth and dense low branches. Instead I hiked west to West Twin. Climbed the tree to the lookout tower
