

The following petroglyphs are recorded in journal this date but collected in about 1935. They were traced from rocks by forcing tissue paper into rock surface with a tooth brush and then outlining the impression with a pencil and then traced on to paper. In nearly all cases the subject was part of a complete picture and were made to illustrate the form of the mountain sheep & deer. As I recall there was a question as to exact locality in Utah Co. and information was recorded at a later date. I believe this applied in only one case, however.
