

(Staff photo by Kent Van Hoesen)

A flight of bald eagles near Perry attracts the attention of James Bee, retired professor of biological sciences at Kansas University and former assistant curator at the Museum of Natural History.