Osprey carried 12" fish NW by long fir tree on vantage point
 One help measured 45' long empty ^{1/2 shell} crushed shells float as tide comes in.

I believe that the entire country was eroded to bed-rock and later filled with gravel and sand.

There is a monadnock NW of camp on main Widby Island.

La Conners Preserve is leased from the Swinomish Indians. The Indians are allowed to drive thru preserved to ^{ancestral} tribal ^{salmon} fishing area at tip of peninsula
 One boulder on beach and probably an erratic (no strata)
