Mr. Alon Jensen, brother-in-law informed me of the crow migration in Provo, Utah, sometime in march. (march 15 selected for purposes of recording.) This was the second occurence of unusual numbers of crows that passed thru Provo. The birds were first observed from 1593 N, 1450 E, Provo. They crows were higher than the mountain to the east and stretched from their residence S to mouth of Spanish Fork. They came over Buckley mountain. Of this group some descended in circles into the valley at his residence and alighted on the slope below his home (the home on Bonneville Level). after about 1/2 hour on this slope they left and trended toward Rock Canyon. A second group arrived from the south and remained in his area for 1 hour and then moved N. Mr. Jensen stated that he had never seen so many crows.
