

Fog clouds over Spencer Lake on Blakely Island. Localized for most of the day.

To Lopez Village: Swifts Lagoon, 14 mallards, 6 blue-winged teal, 4 widgeons.

Two turkey vultures soaring above field SE of junction Baker View and Port Stanley Rds.

2 Canadian geese in field 2/10 mi N 1916 School House. Out 50' to E from road.

Causeway Fishermans Bay 2 ^{American black} oyster catchers and 11 glaucous-winged oystercatchers on W side of causeway along beach. The S end Fisherman Bay is at low tide and is a mud flat except channel in middle. The bay would make a good research bay, however temporary it might be in the short history of bay that have had the circulation of water cut off.

One adult Bald Eagle 1 mi. N Lopez Village, circling above.

May 28, 1989
8:30 A.M. ^{muledeer} fawn, 14" high at the shoulders at feeder with mother. The mother refuses to nurse fawn. The fawn is curious of the feeder and continuously moves around. When we made our appearance the mother remained at feeder but the fawn immediately moved up trail 20' but then returned to mother.

8:35 A.M. a river otter swam S past Bee House and inspected boat moored in Spring Cove.

9:00 AM to 10:00 A.M. For an hour I monitored the activity of renters using the O'Leary house: 3 boys (ages 8-10 years) first arrived at Spring Cove beach at 7:45 A.M. they left for breakfast. At 9:00 A.M. they returned and played on Spring Cove beach and Spring Cove Point adjoining to S. They threw rocks from the beach into the water. The rocks were 2" (1"-5") diameter and on an average of 3 every four seconds or 45 rocks per minute.

9:15 A.M. - 9:30 A.M. The boys threw 14 pieces of wood into water and then threw rocks at the wood at the same rate as above or 45 rocks per minute.

9:30 - 9:40 Threw rocks into water so as to splash water against each other. The largest rock was 5" in diameter. Average number of rocks 45 rocks per minute.

9:40 - 9:58 Now the boys are throwing small rocks at each other 2 of the boys retreated to Spring Cove Point some 40' away. The one on the beach threw beach pebbles at the rate of 1 per 4 seconds.