

latus. Lat. Ind. Orn. Supp.
long. Tail. (In due, tom. ii Dugay, Sav. Gen. Zool.
Dugay, Lat. Gen. Syn. Supp.
Dugay, Lat. Gen. Hist.,
Lat. Ind. Orn. Supp., p.
Fleit. Lat. Gen. Syn. Supp.
v. 11, p. 118.
Sav. Gen. Zool., vol. vii
C.
Steph. Coll. of Shaw
A. Smith, Zool. Ill.
Vg. and Hist. in Li
limits of New South Wal is a mimic in all parts of more than any other bird in entities, but also in nearly e a small opposite, a welcome on birds of every kind. I attempts. I observed sever in Penny's Land. At several times this specie ould stamps from i ays pink and darling, and gaining with the most si is sometimes seen singly or in groups, in the most vile; and the two succeed in the country.

Spring season commences in the middle of April; it is of a round body, with a long tail, and in the blue, eight and a half in long, and the present no difference of between the "Collection" of the bird in the possess in the present work, I find is not in either of his de there is a precious a feature my beliefing them not to be the case: the spe it would be more appropriate to be used, and the require
"B. J. B." as identical the head, wings and t and below with bl
light tinge of olive; flesh the skin and feet greyish in one specimen the throat an long beak.

He represents the male
of the bird.