

MYZAN

Myz. (Myz. Gould in Proc.

Myz. inhabits the interior of the river
of in near ally the Myz.
and frequent the tops of trees so that the last will not succeed in finding the bird where it is The song is like in phrasing but quite behind the eye.
The neck is cream-yellow;
the throat is barred with grey; throat, cheeks, and back of head; wings and tail of the same color of the throat; feet yellow; feet yellow.
The song represents the two