

NEGOTIUM LINGUARUM

Willelmi de Wyndesore

Scriptum in anno domini millesimo CCCmo

This is a treatise of the nature and use of language, written by a learned man, who has spent many years in the study of the same. It is divided into three parts: the first of which treats of the nature of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The first part is divided into three chapters: the first of which treats of the nature of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The second part is divided into three chapters: the first of which treats of the use of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The third part is divided into three chapters: the first of which treats of the manner of teaching language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the nature of language. The first chapter of the first part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the nature of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The second chapter of the first part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the nature of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The third chapter of the first part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the nature of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The first chapter of the second part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the use of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The second chapter of the second part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the use of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The third chapter of the second part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the use of language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the manner of teaching it. The first chapter of the third part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the manner of teaching language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the nature of language. The second chapter of the third part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the manner of teaching language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the nature of language. The third chapter of the third part is divided into three sections: the first of which treats of the manner of teaching language, the second of the use of it, and the third of the nature of language.