

and a second broader similar but paler than the and gradually blends into intermediate pale head luminous, and terminates narrow line of white; eye bordering of rufous at the rufous, with a narrow the neck and shoulders ed, each feather faintly white, as in the male surface brown, largely side with tawny; all

ous, crossed obliquely