

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

ASTEN LENOX TILDEN FOUNDATION

1895

The New York Public Library, Asten Lenox Tilden Foundation, is a non-profit corporation organized for the purpose of acquiring, accumulating, and making available to the public a collection of books, manuscripts, and other objects of interest and value. The Library was founded in 1895, and its collection has since grown to include over 5 million volumes. The Library is open to the public, and its services are free of charge. The Library is located at 455 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10017. The Library is a member of the Association of Research Libraries, and is a part of the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs. The Library is a non-profit corporation, and its assets are held in trust for the benefit of the public. The Library is a part of the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, and is a member of the Association of Research Libraries. The Library is a non-profit corporation, and its assets are held in trust for the benefit of the public. The Library is a part of the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, and is a member of the Association of Research Libraries.