

er surface of body dull white, 12 inches, culmen 1.95, wing and neck rather dingier than brown; lores and ear-coverts ice of body dirty white, very tly like the breast; from the e sides of the throat onto the tarsus 1.65."

the Supplement to the 'Birds arate genus from that which G. R. Gray's generic name of rawn from specimens in my