

OXYPOGON LINDBERGI

Lindbergs Holmström

Oxy Pogon Lindbergi in Bot. Not. 1885, p. 282.

Oxy Pogon Lindbergi in Bot. Not. 1885, p. 282.

Oxy Pogon Lindbergi in Bot. Not. 1885, p. 282.

Oxy Pogon Lindbergi in Bot. Not. 1885, p. 282.

The first specimen of this species was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885. It is a very small plant, but is really distinguished from the species of the genus Oxy Pogon by having a more slender stem than the other species of the genus. The first specimen was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885.

The first specimen of this species was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885. It is a very small plant, but is really distinguished from the species of the genus Oxy Pogon by having a more slender stem than the other species of the genus. The first specimen was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885.

The first specimen of this species was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885. It is a very small plant, but is really distinguished from the species of the genus Oxy Pogon by having a more slender stem than the other species of the genus. The first specimen was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885.

The first specimen of this species was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885. It is a very small plant, but is really distinguished from the species of the genus Oxy Pogon by having a more slender stem than the other species of the genus. The first specimen was collected in the province of Finland in the year 1885, and was discovered in the province of Finland in the year 1885.