

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Division of the Physical Sciences

Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A. 60637

Phone: 773-936-5000

Telex: 251131

Internet: <http://www.uchicago.edu>

The University of Chicago is a private research university in Chicago, Illinois. It was founded in 1837 as a Methodist Episcopal school, and is now a non-sectarian institution. The university is known for its commitment to academic excellence and its role in the development of modern higher education in the United States. It is a member of the Association of American Universities and the Ivy League.

The university is organized into several divisions, including the Division of the Physical Sciences, the Division of the Biological Sciences, and the Division of the Social Sciences. Each division is headed by a dean and contains several departments. The university also has a number of research centers and institutes, which are dedicated to specific areas of research.

The University of Chicago is a member of the Association of American Universities and the Ivy League. It is also a member of the Association of Research Universities and the Association of Private Universities.

The university is known for its commitment to academic excellence and its role in the development of modern higher education in the United States. It is a member of the Association of American Universities and the Ivy League.

The University of Chicago is a private research university in Chicago, Illinois. It was founded in 1837 as a Methodist Episcopal school, and is now a non-sectarian institution.

The university is known for its commitment to academic excellence and its role in the development of modern higher education in the United States. It is a member of the Association of American Universities and the Ivy League.

The University of Chicago is a private research university in Chicago, Illinois. It was founded in 1837 as a Methodist Episcopal school, and is now a non-sectarian institution.

The university is known for its commitment to academic excellence and its role in the development of modern higher education in the United States. It is a member of the Association of American Universities and the Ivy League.

The University of Chicago is a private research university in Chicago, Illinois. It was founded in 1837 as a Methodist Episcopal school, and is now a non-sectarian institution.