

THE HISTORY OF THE ## AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The American Revolution was a period of intense struggle for the colonies to gain independence from Great Britain. It began in 1775 and ended in 1783. The revolution was fought for the principle of self-government and the right of the people to choose their own leaders. The American Revolution was a turning point in the history of the United States. It established the United States as a new nation, free from British rule. The revolution was fought for the principle of self-government and the right of the people to choose their own leaders. The American Revolution was a turning point in the history of the United States. It established the United States as a new nation, free from British rule.

The American Revolution was a period of intense struggle for the colonies to gain independence from Great Britain. It began in 1775 and ended in 1783. The revolution was fought for the principle of self-government and the right of the people to choose their own leaders. The American Revolution was a turning point in the history of the United States. It established the United States as a new nation, free from British rule. The revolution was fought for the principle of self-government and the right of the people to choose their own leaders. The American Revolution was a turning point in the history of the United States. It established the United States as a new nation, free from British rule.

The American Revolution was a period of intense struggle for the colonies to gain independence from Great Britain. It began in 1775 and ended in 1783. The revolution was fought for the principle of self-government and the right of the people to choose their own leaders. The American Revolution was a turning point in the history of the United States. It established the United States as a new nation, free from British rule. The revolution was fought for the principle of self-government and the right of the people to choose their own leaders. The American Revolution was a turning point in the history of the United States. It established the United States as a new nation, free from British rule.