

INTRODUCTION

BY THE AUTHOR

THE following is a list of the works which have been consulted in the preparation of this book.

The first part of the book is devoted to a general survey of the history of the subject, and to a discussion of the various theories which have been advanced.

The second part is devoted to a detailed examination of the various theories, and to a comparison of their merits and demerits.