

PTEROGLOSSUS PAVONINUS

Francis Gambrell Ayres

White-Crowned

The white-crown is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen. It is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen. It is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen.

The white-crown is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen. It is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen. It is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen.

PLATE III

The white-crown is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen. It is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen. It is a very common bird in the mountains of the Pacific coast of California. It is a very beautiful bird, and is much prized by the sportsmen.