

agined, where forests do not recover from the cutting. There will be no second growth here; when once cut off, it is gone forever. Saw mills will find employment for many generations, ere they can lay bare these mountains.

Fort Sanders—six and a half miles from Red Buttes, is a railroad station, for the military post of Fort Sanders, situated on the east side of the railroad, close to the track, and in plain view for miles in every direction. The buildings are principally of logs, several of stone, and one an ordinary frame—the headquarters.

This post was established June 23d, 1866, by two companies of the Third Battalion, U. S. Infantry, under command of Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel H. M. Mizner, Captain 18th Infantry. Latitude 41 deg, 13 min. 4 sec. (observation), longitude 105 deg. 40 min. (approximate.)

Two and a-half miles farther on—rolling over a broad prairie, twenty-five miles in width—we arrive at the end of the “Mountain Division” of the road—Laramie.
