

BRIGHAM YOUNG.—For sketch of life see Annex No. 25.

CENTERVILLE—is the next station, four miles from Farmington. The description of one Mormon village will do for nearly all; good farms and crops are the rule, where the land is irrigated, and none where it is not.

WOOD'S CROSSING—comes next, two miles further, being the station for the little village of Bountiful, on the left, and is in the midst of the best cultivated and best producing land in the Territory.

The course of our road from Ogden to Salt Lake is almost due south, while the Wasatch Mountains, for 30 miles, describe a huge circle in the middle to the eastward. The lower point of this circle we are fast approaching, and will reach in about two miles, just at the point of the mountain ahead, where steam is rising. There, under the point of that huge rock, boils up a hot spring, in a large volume, forming a creek several feet in width, with a depth of six inches, and it is very hot. There is no nonsense about this spring; it will boil an egg in two minutes.

The highest peak in the mountain, close to the eastward of these springs alluded to, is 1,200 feet above the valley, and is
