So he proposed to let me retain 1/2 of the lots & pay me back all the money I had expended for the Paper, if I consented to & do that he would pay me $2 00 in hand & give me a mortgage on the Office for $600 more with a note bearing 10 per cent interest payable the first of April next. I told him I would do it if he would make the Paper my organ thoroughout I was to be Chief Editor & assisted & especially devoted to me if I should be a candidate for office. & in the event we should get any public printing I was to have one half of the profits He accepted & now I am waiting for him to pay me the $200. & then there will be a dissolution, if not I will have to go on for a while. If I go on I will have cleared about $600, in the first year. & had I not been in the Paper & moved from where I was at the time there was much Shooting no article of agreement between Elliott & myself I can dissolve the partnership at any time & proceed to settle out the concern & mind it my. & this I will do if he does not pay me & come up to this agreement of dissolution I find that publishing Paper is not just the thing. We have suffered a great deal physically lost a good deal pecuniarly & deserved more men into power & get nothing for it ourselves. Only seem to think that in the distribution of Office that Editors have enough of glory & deserve no promotion. Quite a number of men have crawled into Office through our Paper & yet they never think of giving a dime for it.
