in June, doing good in school. Right now, she's taking Drivers Education in school, can't wait to have her license, to drive what I don't know, unless it's her father's car, and this weekend Georgia's brother had a car accident in it, total it out, he's in the hospital now, from what Nicole says, she had spent the weekend over there. Things are really happening these days, not just ^{to} our family, but to everyone. Things are really tight, but I thank God for our health. I'm trying to keep in touch with everyone through letters. I've wrote Tina, Cheryl, and Priscilla, they had called and sent me cards when I came home from the hospital, so maybe we'll start again
