When your earthly (Borne by Love) friends have forsaken you, and the whole world seems sad and dreary, Remember dear Jesus is always with you and that he will never leave you alone.
He who suffered crucifixion upon the cross of Calvery, For those who loved his father might never die, Angels in heaven are anxiously waiting to welcome you in that most beautiful home, away above the sky, where we always say good-morning but never say good-by.
That most beautiful home was not built by human hands Its grandure, its beauty, its splendor Such was never seen by human eyes.
To enter this most beautiful home away above the sky, Where we always say good-morning and never say good-by,
