

Spring will be here before long It seems that February always passes so swiftly. The song birds are flitting to and fro locating nesting places before we imagine that spring is here.

The children are all well Harvey is just getting on foot from a spell of near pneumonia He had to stay right in the snow and cold during the storm and our thermometer did not register so as the one up north did. But it was cold enough. I got a letter from Net the other day she said that she had seen Olem at a funeral. I guess Olem has not been over. You know Net was as mad as a dog when I came by there going down home. She was so beat about Ollie calling her up and telling her that she had a plenty of room and that your girls would not be back but were staying the night with her.
