Dear mother + all:

I should have written long before now, but have been putting it off. It seems that the days slip away before one knows it. We were very glad to have Marie visit us. I wish that she could have stayed longer.

There is not much news to write about only that we seem to keep busy most of the time. It has started to rain here now, but every now and then we get a clear day. It is dark now in the evenings by 5:00 o'clock.

Tell Sharlyn Rose that we
