There are no words for me to say
Holding more spirit of this Day.
Than the greeting hallowed
by the years,
The words that bring both smiles and tears.
The plain old, "Merry Christmas!"

POST CARD

Dear Pupil;

With friends about to separate,
'Tis fitting deemed and meet,
That they the parting celebrate,
With little tokens sweet.

And now at closing of our school,
Before we homeward wend,
I gladly keep, observe this rule,
With you, my youthful friend

And hence this gift I now present,
This little gem of art,
I give you as a compliment,
And give it with my heart.

*Sincerely
Your Teacher.*

The Close of School

Our school days now we end awhile
To give you needed rest.
To banish care, the time beguile,
And spend as you think best.

Oh sweet has our communion been
The days have passed in joy
And nothing ill has entered in
To mar them with alloy

And often hence your mind will dwell
On school days past and o'er.
Impressions made will upward well,
With all their garnered store.

You'll think how valuable is time.
How priceless are his days.
The wealth of wisdom's heights sublime
The pleasure of her ways

You'll think of schoolmates, teachers too
The books you studied then
Old sports and games will come in view
All in one round again

And now the time has come about
The closing words to say
The shadows fall and lengthen out
And mark declining day

And soon the hum of voices sweet
Will join in merry shout,
As one another you will greet
And cry "The school is out"

And now farewell my dear young friend
I wish you rest complete
May happiness your steps attend
Until again we meet

Sincerely
Your Teacher.

Faint, illegible ghosting of text from the reverse side of the page.

The school is out and now we part
And go our several ways
To mingle in life's busy mart,
And spend vacation days.
