

I believe in the magic of the theatre and in the power of the spirit that dwells at the crossroads. Each time we open ourselves to the possibilities of this meeting place, this place of magic, we journey through the mysteries of the current, trusting, then into a place of light where dreams are, where truth can appear.

And I believe in the theatre's ability to change the world and renew the spirit. So at this Crossroads, the magic is respected and celebrated. It's why here, for 14 years, roads from so many backgrounds, of so many beautiful colors and ages and styles and thoughts, on stage as well as beyond the footlights and throughout the house, have been coming together - to share our dreams. So unique to today, but so powerful is this, in our quest to heal and change the world, with hope for tomorrow.

So this season at the Crossroads, we celebrate the 15th year of a collective dream. Appropriately it's a season about love, and love for land and life and family.

It's "home," and exactly why you should be here celebrating the human spirit.

Ricardo Khan Co-founder and Artistic Director

I'd like to dedicate this production to Dr. Penelope E. Lattimer who has served on the Crossroads Board for 13 years, and as President for 11 years. To a wonderful visionary and great friend.
