

THE CHARLES WILLIAMS HOUSE

The Charles Williams house. A typically modest residential structure in Nicodemus. The gable-end portion dates to the pre-1920s, and the lean-to addition was added in the 1930s. Like a number of wood frame structures in Nicodemus, the building has been stuccoed with a plaster mixture of cement, water, sand, and hog hair. The northeast room of the house was operated as a post office by Elizabeth Williams in the 1930s.
