Why Farm Bureau?

Communications-

Information is important to Farm Bureau. We believe you must be kept abreast of developments which will affect your life. You need to know how Farm Bureau is defending our free enterprise system and other values important to American families. We also want to keep you informed of programs, activities, and services available to all Farm Bureau members.

Daily radio programs and monthly publications help members keep abreast of important legislative activities and organizational news.

Many local Farm Bureau associations sponsor farm/city programs and county newsletters, helping all members understand the scope of Farm Bureau's commitment to the needs of Kansans.

Why should I join Farm Bureau?

In addition to the programs described above, there are a variety of additional benefits.

We are Kansans concerned about Kansans and their problems. By working together, we can exert a great influence on the solutions to those problems.

Farm Bureau is organized in every county, providing local service. Wherever you go, you can be assured of the finest service for your needs.

Farm Bureau is like-thinking people, farm and city, working to enhance the lifestyle of Kansans.

Where else can you get so much for so little? Your Farm Bureau dues are one of the best investments in the future for you, your family and your friends.
