Candidates Vote, Wait for Verdict

Capital's Wire Services

Presidential candidates, along with President Eisenhower and former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Herbert Hoover, were among the early voters Tuesday.

Eisenhower beat them all. He was at a Gettysburg, Pa., polling place before opening time and had to wait five minutes before casting ballot No. 1. Eisenhower hopped up to Gettysburg in a helicopter and returned to Washington immediately after voting.

Truman cast his ballot at Independence, Mo., 10 minutes after the polls opened.

DEMOCRAT candidate John F. Kennedy and his wife cast ballots Nos. 85 and 86 in Boston. As Kennedy climbed the stairs from the basement voting place in Boston's West End library he was greeted by cries of "Mr. President" from crowds gathered outside the building.

At Whittier, Calif., Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon and his wife turned in absentee ballots they had planned to mail from Washington. They cast ballots Nos. 24 and 25.

Republican vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge waited in line at Beverly, Mass., while 17 others ahead of him cast their ballots.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate cast ballot No. 99 at Johnson City, Tex.

Eisenhower showed up five minutes early and an election judge told him he'd have to wait for the polls to open—and he did.

EISENHOWER appeared at the Barlow Township fire house at 6:55 a.m. (EST).

"You have to wait five minutes, Mr. President," said Mrs. Fred Swisher, an election judge.

"I've got to make it legal," Eisenhower replied. "I don't want to come this far and lose my vote."

Promptly at 7, Mrs. Swisher told him: "You may go there and sign your paper."

Eisenhower spent 45 seconds in the curtained voting booth.

When reporters asked how he voted, Eisenhower held up his wrist watch with pictures of his four grandchildren on the crystal, and said:

"That's who I voted for."

Nixon cast his ballot a half hour after the polls opened and then took a drive along the Pacific ocean.

A secret service agent telephoned Robert Finch, Nixon's campaign manager, that the vice president just wanted to drive along the beach "to get away from it all for a little while."

He was back at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles later to await the nation's verdict on his bid for the presidency.

* * *

KENNEDY CAST his vote and then settled back for long, tense hours of awaiting the verdict.

Smiling and jaunty, the Democratic presidential nominee was told by a newsman at the airport that the weather was good throughout the United States.

"People will get out to vote and that's a good sign," Kennedy said.

Woman Scribe Tests Wildcat Pressbox Next

KANSAS CITY — (P) — There's no Big Eight rule against women writers in the conference press boxes so Barbara Simmers may try again.

Miss Simmers, assistant sports editor of the Hutchinson, Kan., News, was barred from the University of Kansas press box Saturday when she sought accommodations as a reporter for the News.

DON PIERCE, KU publicity director, stood on a rule of the American Football Writer's Association which bars all women except telegraphers from press boxes. He escorted Miss Simmers to a seat in the stadium. Reaves Peters, Big Eight Commissioner, said Monday: "There is no written rule. As far as I know it has not been discussed as a conference matter." Peters said he could not recall ever seeing a woman covering a football game from a Big Eight press box.

Nixon Takes Holiday Away From Players

WASHINGTON—(P)—Coach Mike Nixon, incensed in defeat, Monday revoked the usual Monday holiday for his Washington Redskins and ordered them through a bristling disciplinary workout.

"There are too many complacent kids on the club," Nixon growled from the despair of a 44-7 drubbing by the St. Louis Cards Sunday. It was one of the worst beatings suffered by a Washington team.

"NO TEAM can be that bad," Nixon snapped as he broke precedent and conducted an afternoon of rough stuff at Griffith Stadium. Club owner George Preston Marshall backed Nixon's whipcracking. And in response to the standard inquiry in such circumstances—two straight thrashings—Marshall said the coach's position is secure at this time.

While declaring himself a Nixon rooter, Marshall added this view rarely heard from sports bosses:

"The public changes coaches." AND WHILE he vowed

Phillies Eye New Ballpark

PHILADELPHIA — (P) — The Philadelphia Phillies raised the price of their baseball tickets Monday and looked of a new stadium within three years.

"When you finish last and raise admission prices, I realize you're not going to win any popularity contests," said Bob Carpenter, owner of the National League club, at a luncheon for newsmen. "We didn't want to make a move," Carpenter said, but rising costs have made it necessary. . . . We figure on the basis of what we drew last season, slightly over $100,000, that we will take in about $100,000 more in 1961, but we'll still finish in the red."

Concerning the new stadium, to replace Connie Mack Stadium, Carpenter said it would be ready within three years, but would give details. "I'm confident we'll have a new stadium within that time," he said.

James Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander of RFD 1, Hill City, has accepted a full grant-in-aid scholarship in football and track at Kansas State University at Manhattan.

"Alex", as he is known by his team mates, agreed to accept the scholarship last week after a visit from Ken LaRue, end coach at the University. LaRue told the Times that Alexander was offered the scholarship after watching him perform at the Beloit Relays (Alex won the 100, the 220, his heat of the 440, and ran the opening leg of the winning 880 relay) and studying movies of the Hill City football games last fall.

"We are very impressed by James' speed and endurance, and by his tremendous desire and attitude toward athletics," LaRue went on.

Ringneck football and track coach Richard Lousch said, "We are real proud of Alex, and hope his record and receiving this scholarship will serve as an incentive to the future athletes of Hill City High."

RELIANCE ON DOCTOR URGED

Arthritis Foundation Official Warns Public of Quackery

Quackery in arthritis will continue as long as no panacea exists for the affliction, the medical director of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation said Thursday night.

The public is susceptible to such quackery, said Dr. Ronald W. Lamont-Havers, because it relies too much on medical information from newspapers, radio, television and magazines, rather than consulting the medical profession.

The New York City physician spoke at a banquet in the Albany Hotel attended by 160 participants in a two-day course on management and rehabilitation of arthritics.

Sessions were sponsored by the Rocky Mountain Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, the Colorado Department of Rehabilitation and the University of Colorado School of Medicine.

"We believe quacks frequently are people of little education, misinformed and ill-advised," Dr. Lamont-Havers said, "and recently physicians, some of them well-meaning, have entered the field."

He attacked an article by a Canadian doctor in Look magazine as "irresponsible." The article described a "new, secret" remedy, which Dr. Lamont-Havers said was not new, not secret, nor a remedy.

Physicians also have been responsible for two current books that have been subjects of suits for false and misleading advertising, he said.

Other quackery in arthritis, he said, has taken the form of "immune milk," put out by dairies "at fantastic prices"; herbal tonics, mineral bath salts, various non-prescription drugs, and magnetic bracelets.

Soon to be on the market will be arthritis "cures" from Israel, he said—mud and salt from the Dead Sea.

Before his address, Dr. Lamont-Havers presented the Russell L. Cecil Arthritis and Rheumatism Award for Journalism to Morton Margolin of the Rocky Mountain News.

Judge to Rule Soon in School District Suits

HILL CITY — (Special)— A test case of the new school unification laws,
brought by 18 school districts, was taken under advisement Friday by Judge
C. E. Birney in District Court here.

The judge said he will render a decision early next week.

* * *

ORIGINALLY, 10 districts filed suit, called the unification act unconstitutional and an encouragement to school districts to raid each other's territory.

Eight more districts joined the action Friday morning.
All 18 were represented by Marion W. Chipman, Hill City, Earl H. Hatcher, Topeka, and Bernard J. Brungardt, Hays, attorneys. The state was represented by Edward Curry, an assistant attorney general.

Chipman stuck closely to the particulars of the suit, which maintains the act is not only unconstitutional, but also vague and indefinite.

Chipman charged the act
makes an unlawful delegation of legislative authority to county school superintendents.

* * *

IN REBUTTAL, Curry denied the act is vague and said weaknesses can be corrected in the courts. He conceded, however, the act does not fix a cutoff date by which school districts must stop acquiring territory so that a county unification plan can be outlined and voted upon.

Hatcher told the court,
"Whenever you permit the people to go out and strive to bring territory into their own districts, you have confusion, not uniformity."

Gable Suffers Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD —(P)— Clark Gable, the 59-year-old king of the movies, suffered a heart attack Sunday, his doctor reported.

After Gable was taken to Hollywood Presbyterian hospital and examined, Dr. Fred Cerrini described the attack as a coronary thrombosis, saying: "His condition is good and he is resting comfortably."

The physician added: "Fortunately, I ordered Mr. Gable under oxygen as soon as I was told of his condition and sent him to the hospital."

* * *

CARDIOGRAPHIC tests were made at the hospital.

Gable's wife Kay went with him. She is expecting a baby in March which will be the first child for Gable.

"He is resting comfortably and they have given him a lot of medicine," said Mrs. Gable. "The doctors are leaving and will return later. They told me that I could go home and get some of his things. Then I'll return and take a room at the hospital."

She said he will be confined to the hospital for some time.

* * *

ALSO AT the hospital was Howard Strickling, director of publicity at MGM and longtime friend of Gable. He said he and Gable had planned to look at a horse Sunday but the actor telephoned Saturday saying: "I feel too lousy to look at horses."

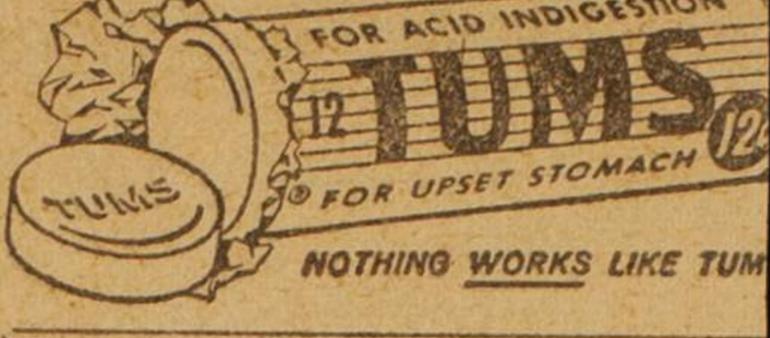

"He told me he had dysentery and couldn't eat," said Strickling, "and when Gable can't eat, he's got to be sick."

As far as is known, Gable had no previous history of a heart condition. Only Friday he was working on a movie,

School Budget Details Printing Not Required

Atty. Gen. William Ferguson ruled Tuesday common school districts are not required to include the proposed budget in the newspaper notice of the annual meeting of the voters of the district.

Ferguson said the law requires the budget to be posted with notice of the annual meeting on one of the front doors of the school house in at least two or more public places elsewhere in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Phillips

Betty Ann Sellers, daughter of Mrs. August Sellers of Florence, Kansas and Darrell Calvin Phillips, son of Mrs. Agnes Phillips of LeRoy, Kansas, were united in marriage on Sunday afternoon, November 26, at the Florence Christian Church. Reverend Robert Boynton officiated at the ceremony in a setting of gold gowns and two seven branch candelabra. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Sellers.

Miss Margene Savage sang "Because", "At Dawning", and "Wedding Prayer". Miss Leah Ireland was organist.

The bride chose a floor length gown of glowing satin. The sweetheart neckline was accented with simulated pearl beading and iridescent spangles. The bodice melted into a sweeping skirt enhanced with three satin rosettes at the back. The long tapered sleeves came to points at the wrists. The bride's veil was of French bridal illusion tulle falling from a crown of simulated pearls and sequins. The bride carried a white Bible covered with a cascade bouquet of feathered mums centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Robert Ehrlich served her sister as matron of honor. Miss Charlene Larkin of Topeka was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of gold brocaded satin with small coordinated hats of satin and net veiling. Cascade bouquets of lavender mums were carried.

Miss Debra Phillips, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a yellow taffeta dress and carried a basket of lavender mums.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue dress of wool jersey with white and black accessories. Her corsage was of tiny sweetheart roses.

Raymond Phillips of WaKeeney, Kansas served his brother as best man. The groomsman, brother-in-law of the groom, was Robert Briscoe of Kansas City, Missouri. Ushers were Robert Ehrlich of Marion, Kansas and James Bobb of WaKeeney, Kansas.

Mrs. Elvin Melcher of Hill City, Kansas, Miss Jeanice Cress of Wichita, Kansas, and Miss Beverly Koch, Ashland, Kansas, served at the reception following the ceremony. They were assisted by Mrs. Bill Janzen, Mrs. Lee Ireland, Mrs. Harold Huntley, Mrs. Fred Bibler, and Mrs. Charles Larkin, all of Florence.

Mrs. Robert Proctor of Bonner Springs, Kansas, was in charge of the guest book. Miss Myrna Dodd of Hill City, and Mrs. Don James, Hoxie, Kansas were in charge of gifts.

For the wedding trip to Eureka Springs, Arkansas, the bride chose a brown suit with blending accessories. The white orchid from her bridal bouquet was her corsage.

Mrs. Phillips is a graduate of the Kansas State University School of Home Economics and serves as Graham County Home Economics Agent at Hill City, Kansas. The groom is a graduate of the Kansas State University School of Veterinary Medicine. He is a veterinarian at WaKeeney, Kansas.

Deaf Man Perfects Smallest Hearing Aid

GREAT BEND, Kansas—(Special)—A remarkable mid-get hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and is the most revolutionary product ever to appear on the market for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear but do not understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television, and radio at his ear rather than at a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of 4 transistors, the user cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately 1/4-ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

Mr. J. O. Spillane of Telex Hearing Center, 1218 Main, Great Bend, Ks., will be at the Moore Hotel, Hill City, Ks., on Monday, December 18th, 9 a.m. to 12 noon for the purpose of holding a service clinic and showing of this new hearing aid. (Adv.)

Psychology Rated Big Factor In Treatment of Arthritis

By JUDY BRIMBERG
Denver Post Staff Writer

The medical director of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation Thursday said that the patient as well as the disease should be considered in treating arthritis.

"The patient's nervous reaction is like wind to a flame. The flame (the disease) must be there, but the patient's psychological reaction can intensify it greatly," said Dr. Ronald W. Lamont-Havers of New York.

He was one of the main speakers at a two-day course on management and rehabilitation of arthritic patients held at the Veterans Hospital Auditorium, 1055 Clermont St. The sessions are sponsored by the Rocky Mountain Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, the Colorado State Department of Rehabilitation and the University of Colorado School of Medicine. More than 150 persons from 20 states and Canada are attending.

ASPIRIN TREATMENT

Dr. Lamont-Havers said current treatment consists of large doses of aspirin under medical supervision.

In addition, physical medical care is begun as soon as possible.

"Rather than large elaborate devices, the physical medical treatment consists of simple exercises. . . . It is more important what the patient does than what is done to him," Dr. Lamont-Havers said.

The medical director estimated that 10 pct. of the population over 40 is afflicted with degenerative arthritis, and of these, about one pct. are seriously handicapped.

Physical medicine is used to prevent deformities and surgery is performed to overcome the affliction. Dr. Lamont-Havers noted that Denver hospitals have done excellent work in correcting hand and foot deformities.

Rheumatoid arthritis tests on animals indicate the disease may be caused by an auto-immune body reacting against itself. However, the tests with animals cannot be viewed as conclusive since animals do not develop the disease themselves, the director said.

However, scientists also are trying to determine what causes degenerative arthritis, which does occur naturally in animals. Doctors already believe that those afflicted with degenerative arthritis in the hands may pass it on to their offspring.

QUACK CURES

Dr. Lamont-Havers listed the following most popular "quack cures" for arthritis:

- Bee-sting therapy.
- Immune milk. The "cure" is based on the theory that arthritis is caused by a streptococcus germ.
- Vitamin therapy.
- Herbal tonics.
- Magic metal bracelets.

He stated the quackery still remains a serious problem in treating the arthritic patient.

Other speakers were Dr. Ephraim P. Engleman, San Francisco, president of the American Rheumatism Assn., and Dr. Donald L. Rose, chairman of the department of physical medicine at the University of Kansas School of Medicine.

TYPES CLASSIFIED

Dr. Engleman described the different types of arthritis.

Rheumatic fever and rheumatoid arthritis generally are found most frequently among young people. Three other types are most common among those over 40: the degenerative type, where the joints are afflicted; the internal metabolic type—such as gout, and infectious arthritis.

Dr. Harold S. Robinson, Vancouver, medical director of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, described the in-patient team approach used in his area. Traveling occupational therapy vans make it possible for family doctors to utilize specialized care for patients, Dr. Robinson said.

Steve Biding Time on Race

Gov. Steve McNichols, returning to his office Thursday after attending the National Governors Conference in Pennsylvania, said he hasn't "given much thought" to the timing of his expected political announcement.

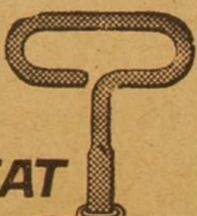

He has until July 18 — 10 days before the state Democratic assembly — to decide what to do. Almost everyone, including potential Republican adversaries, expects him to announce his candidacy for re-election.

Conservation Plan Proposed by Udall

(C) 1962, N. Y. Times News Service
SEATTLE, Wash.—Industrial

pressures, technological gains and a population explosion lessen mankind's hope of salvaging undisturbed remnants of natural scenic beauty, it was reported here Thursday.

Against such an ominous backdrop Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall proposed a common market of conservation to the 328 delegates and observers from 72 countries attending the first World Conference on National Parks here.

Udall envisioned international coordination and personnel exchange to forestall further loss of scenic areas as time for such projects have rapidly dwindled. Such a program, on which the Interior Department is now working, would bring Africans and Latin Americans to the United States for a year, virtually being schooled in American national parks.

Although he was heartened by the progress symbolized by the conference itself, Udall sounded a somber note in his speech to the week-long meeting, which ends Saturday.

"So great is the power of men and nations," he said, "to enlarge the machine-dominated portion of the world" not an exaggeration to say that few opportunities for conservation projects of grand scope will remain by the year 2000 . . . With few exceptions the places of superior scenic beauty, the unspoiled landscapes, the spacious refuges for wildlife, the nature parks and nature reserves of significant size and grandeur that our generation saves—yours and mine—will be all that is preserved."

The rising demand for parks and playgrounds, he said, will increase four-fold. He pointed to the 290 pct. increase in wilderness recreation in the United States during the last decade and predicted that such use would grow 10 times in the next 40 years.

"But as the need increases," he said, "land and forest and water are necessarily being preempted for other uses."

In addition, demographic projections that will double and redouble the world's population every 35 years would drastically alter man's relationship to land everywhere, he added.

"I would like to think that this conference strikes a wholesome note of sanity in a troubled world," he continued.

Udall acknowledged that re-
