

January 11, 1938.

Mr. J. W. St. Clair,
Director of Physical Education,
Southern Methodist University,
Dallas, Texas.

Dear Saint:

I have in mind a southern trip next year during the Christmas holidays, and I am wondering if you would give me some good advice. I would like to end up down in Mexico with the boys, but I thought that during the early part of the Christmas vacation we would like to start down through Texas, playing the University, your school, Rice, and swing on down to New Orleans, if possible.

It might not be possible to make the trip to New Orleans, but we want to go across the border into Mexico. We have played several Mexican teams here at the University, and they have insisted for a number of years that we come down there. I know some of the Mexican leaders and thought we would like to spend a little time there and pick up a few games on our way back, if possible.

I am wondering if you could kindly suggest the teams that have the better courts down south and the guarantee that you think we might get to make our trip successful. I would appreciate your kind assistance.

I noticed where you lost your ball game at the Garden, but you came through at Philadelphia o.k.

It was a pleasure to visit with you back at Columbia last summer, and I am looking forward to seeing you again at our rules meeting. I will also perhaps see you at our National Physical Education meeting.

Say, by the way, what about the courts down in Georgia and the Carolinas? Have your boys played down there?

With every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

FCA:AH